ANCIENT ALERCE HIKE

/ ALERCE ANDINO NATIONAL PARK

Traveling along the first stretch of the Carretera Austral, considered one of the most scenic roads in the world, you reach the gates of Alerce Andino National Park, a place surrounded by volcanoes, valleys, and the Pacific Ocean.

This park was created to protect one of the last remaining forests of the alerce tree, a species that was on the brink of extinction due to indiscriminate logging that took place between the 19th and 20th centuries, owing to the high quality of the wood for building homes and boats.

The alerce is a species of tree of enormous importance, considered the second oldest tree species on Earth. Specimens can be found that are over 3,000 years old. Additionally, it is the tallest tree species in the entire southern cone, with crowns exceeding 40 meters.

The hike begins on an old logging road where we gradually ascend until reaching the 3500-year-old alerce tree. After lunch, the excursion ends at Chaiquenes Lagoon. The park is home to a quite particular ecosystem, serving as habitat for species such as the pudú, guiñas, and the monito del monte.

The excursion concludes at the Artisan Group "Entre junquillo y manila," where guests can explore an exhibition and learn to weave a small basket. # LOOM WEAVING ROUTE

/ CARRETERA AUSTRAL: CHAICAS, CALETA GUTIERREZ AND LENCA

This excursion, organized in collaboration with “Fundación de Artesanías de Chile”, offers a unique experience that connects visitors with the ancestral textile art of the Carretera Austral by visiting three workshops that keep this tradition alive. It allows guests to explore a textile universe developed over 150 years, thanks to the specialization of women. In May 2023, this tradition received the international designation of “World Craft City” from the World Crafts Council. This unique art form is an essential part of Chile’s material and intangible heritage and has been passed down through generations. The tour begins with observing wool dyeing using natural products. Then, in Caleta Gutiérrez, the artisans from “Taller Vista al Mar” teach wool spinning with a spindle and weaving on a brocade loom. Finally, in Lenca, visitors will see how blankets and knotted choapinos are made, and learn about the “Wool Bank,” a project that facilitates access to quality wool for weavers. As a B Corporation, we consider this excursion important for supporting these dedicated artisans and promoting the region’s cultural legacy, offering guests an authentic and unforgettable experience.
